New York, Oct. 20 -The dull and hesitating tone of the speculative interest in stocks was unrelieved today. Prices did not move long in any one direction and Wabash movements. The more prominent issues in which the greatest part of the market dealings have been concentrated for a long time were heavy in tone. At the same time special stocks of a less conspicuous nature and including some of the low-priced non-dividend payers were pushed upwards. The immediate condition of the local money market was not such as to force liquidation, as the banks were not actually calling loans. In fact, supplies of loanable funds were somewhat more liberal. It was argued that these funds were supplied by former large holders of stocks, who had been selling out at a profitable level of prices recently prevailing, and were lending the money on account of the prevailing attractive interest rates. The sustained strength of the foreign exchange market this week continued today. The private discount rate in London today rose to above the official discount rate established last week and it was taken for granted that tomorrow would see a further rise in the Bank of England official the action was confused by contrary movements. The more prominent issues granted that tomorrow would see a fur-ther rise in the Bank of England offi-cial discount rates, probably half of 1 per cent, and possibly by another full 1 per cent.

In this country the exchange at Chicago moved against New York again and a resumption of interior demands for currency was looked for. The publication of the figures of the country's foreign trade for September showed a further large increase in the value of imports, which served to reduce the trade balance again in favor of this country and thus help to explain the strength in the elp to explain the strength in the oreign exchange market and the lack of an expected supply of exchange to provide for remittance in payment of maturing loans abroad. A report of a contemplated issue of new Chicago & Northwestern stocks was greeted with a sharp decline in that stocks. cline in that stock decline in that stock.

Bonds of the International Pump company were offered both here and in foreign markets. The placing of new American issues abroad suggested another phase of the question of securing new capital in a way that might operate as a substitution or funding of temporary borrowings from foreigners and thus relieve the immediate obligation to repay them.

Bonds were heavy. Total sales, par value, $3,004,000. United States 2s declined \(\frac{1}{2} \) and the 4s registered \(\frac{1}{2} \) per cent in the bid price on call.

A weak opening was followed by a reaction which was accelerated by reports of a renewal of the strong milling demand in the northwest which yesterday apparently had reached its height. An advance in cash wheat in the northwest helped to counteract the effect of the falling off in the cash wheat figures in the southwest. Enormous shipments of flour from the northwest also strengthened the market. December spread over a range of 1½c.
